Subject : Newborn medical care by pediatricians

Dear Doctors,

The medical care of the newborn is very important and detection of congenital abnormalities, which has significant medico-legal implications, is often times difficult. With increasing expectation of the community in the quality of care received, the hospital is of the view that the medical care of the newborn is best left to pediatricians.

With effect from 1/6/2010, all newborns should be under the care of pediatricians during the stay in the hospital to ensure that the newborn is being cared by doctors with the required expertise and skill.

Yours sincerely,

Dr Lee Hoi Che
