Introduction

There are two Renal Centres in Hong Kong Baptist Hospital.

I. Renal Centre (Hong Kong Baptist Hospital)

Haemodialysis service was launched by Hong Kong Baptist Hospital in 1980, and a Renal Unit was set up at the Hospital in 1982. In order to offer the community with quality medical service, a Renal Centre was established in 2006 providing a variety of renal care related services. The Centre is equipped with comprehensive facilities and offers a comfortable environment to the patients. It is managed by the resident consultant in nephrology. Other doctors and nephrologists are also welcome to refer their patients to the Centre for haemodialysis service.

II. Renal Centre (Kai Tak Community Health Centre)

To cater for the growing demand of haemodialysis service in the community and to tie in with the "Haemodialysis Public Private Partnership Programme" promoted by Hospital Authority, the Renal Centre (Kai Tak Community Health Centre) was established in February of 2011. The Centre introduced 20 haemodialysis machines with all the set-up attaining hospital standard, offering another option for patients to receive quality haemodialysis treatment at a lower price.

Besides, individual LCD TV and internet service are offered in each Haemodialysis station so that clients can receive the treatment in a homely and comfortable environment.

Mission

- ▶ Provide quality treatment with the introduction of state-of-the-art equipments and facilities
- ▶ Provide professional advice and education to patients
- ▶ Tailor-made treatment plan for individual patient
- ▶ Carry out "Single Use" policy to ensure the safety of haemodialysis process
